Hello comrade from Ici Factory, thanks for sending the sound here. "Calypsong" is a beautiful electronic track, with an air of psychedelia and good synths, which evolves and varies well from start to finish. I saw that it was part of an album from last year, but I decided to share the clip on our threads: <https://www.threads.net/@hominiscanidae/post/DGgIzt6O7bg>

I'll try to listen to the album, if you have an informative release, send it to our email. If I like it, it might appear in the blog post. But good work, take care.

An engaging song, with doses of psychedelia and good references. A very technical and well-produced instrumental. Unfortunately, this is not the genre we play on our radio, but we wish it success.

Hi Icy Factory

Your track *Calypsong* is pure sunshine in musical form to me. As soon as it starts, you can almost feel the warm breeze and hear the sound of the waves in the background. It's the kind of song that makes you want to move, whether it's dancing around your room, tapping your feet, or just swaying while you dream of a tropical getaway.

There's something so liberating about this track. It's light, playful, and full of rhythm, as if it was created to relieve stress and bring people together. The mix of melodies and rhythms feels effortless, like a natural conversation between the instruments. It's not just about dancing, but also about expression, letting go, and feeling connected to the music in a way that comes naturally.

Listening to *Calypsong* reminded me of times when music takes over, like the time at a beach bonfire when a simple song turned into a full-on dance circle. It's that kind of energy: relaxed, joyful, and totally contagious.

Kind regards
Ron

Hi there Ici Factory, thank you for the submission! I listened to your track and found it interesting. The aspect that struck me the most is this energy that is evident from the very beginning. It, in my opinion, manages to interest and engage us. And it is above all the timbral and sonic research that intrigues us in listening and furthermore such timbres, in addition to being seasoned by balanced effects, are well mixed with an excellent use of pan. Nice track! A dear greeting! T.H.E
