Hello! In our opinion, "Fawzia's Tango" is the kind of track that catches you by the rhythm and takes you straight to the dance floor, mixing the energy of electro with the sensuality of tango in a way that sounds natural. The Latin-funk-jazz groove holds the base with precision, while the electronic elements add a modern layer without losing the danceable essence. It's not a revolutionary approach, but the track does its job well: involving and inviting movement, without exaggeration, just letting the music flow. Your music will play on our radio, from Brazil to the world via online. Stay in the flow! After its release, we will include your song in our radio show "Noitinha Cool" here on Rádio Armazém (listen at radioarmazem.net). The radio show is broadcast every Sunday at 10:00 pm (Brazil time). Later, this radio show will go to our playlist on our Spotify profile and your music will continue to play on the radio program. We will share it on our social networks and tag you on our Instagram, for our followers!

Hi Ici Factory YOur track "Fawzia's Tango" for me is the kind of track that makes you want to move—even if you don't know how to tango. It's a blend of Latin, funk, and jazz, but more than anything, it's full of life. You can feel the rhythm calling you to the dance floor, whether that's a real one or just your kitchen while making coffee. The piano leads the way, playful yet precise, weaving a melody that feels both classic and fresh. There's a certain elegance to it, but also a sense of fun—like a dance that starts structured but ends in joyful improvisation. It reminds me of those unexpected moments when music completely takes over, and you just have to move, even if you're alone. This track fits perfectly in the album Let's Dance The Night Together, and it truly captures that spirit. Whether you love jazz, Latin grooves, or just good instrumental music, Fawzia's Tango is worth a listen. Regards Ron

A cool piano and a good beat lead the work well, which brings a jazzy electronic vibe and good tango influences. Unfortunately this is not the genre we play on our radio, but we wish them success.
